

PRESS RELEASE

Rosersberg, March 25, 2019

Steelwrist Academy adds Online training to the offering

Steelwrist offers all dealers product training either at the company's training center in Rosersberg in Sweden or on-site with the dealer. Some of the courses are part of the training program to be a certified service partner. To increase the level of support for dealers Steelwrist Academy now adds online training to the offering.

With brand new Steelwrist Online Academy the training is made easily accessible for dealers who want to update their expertise. This in turn helps them to provide efficient installations and service to the customers.

The courses that are available from the start cover Steelwrist related topics such as Steelwrist Tiltrotators, Steelwrist Control Systems and Support web & Online Academy Usage. More courses will be released later on. To access the online training you need to register a user account at the Steelwrist Supportweb. The training material is available in English.

In the Steelwrist Control System course you learn how to install, set up, adjust and troubleshoot the XControl® G2 Control System.

“We have put much effort into the control system training as we know this is one of the more challenging parts for many dealers. We are very proud to release the online training and we are sure this will be a helpful and efficient tool for our dealers”, says Fredrik Segerström, Steelwrist Support Manager.
